

Price Daniel on Trip to Plains Speaks in Canyon

Attorney General Price Daniel spoke to a large crowd in Canyon Monday morning. He predicted victory in the July primary, but warned against over-optimism. According to all polls taken, Mr. Daniel will win by at least 70% in the first primary in his race for United States Senator from Texas.

Saturday evening an all-Panhandle meeting was held in Amarillo when county managers for this section of the Panhandle met to discuss the campaign and to make personal reports to Mr. Daniel. Attending from Canyon were Hosea Foster, Jack Taylor, Dr. James P. Cornette and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Warwick.

A buffet supper was served under the direction of Jay Taylor. C. J. Humphreys was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Price Daniel is opposed to the extravagance, greed and corruption of the Truman administration. At the present time there are 200,000 policy makers in this government—men who lay down the rules for government spending money.

Mr. Daniel was entertained at breakfast Monday morning at the cafeteria which was attended by about 40 voters.

There was a large crowd at the bandstand when Mr. Daniel spoke to the voters of Randall county.

Mr. Daniel advocates a thorough house-cleaning of corruption and disloyalty; stop waste, extravagance and high taxes; a strong and stable preparedness program; a positive and understandable foreign policy; restoration of the Texas tidelands; prosperity without regimentation; fair treatment for veterans and servicemen.

Signal Gate Goes Into Operation On 15th Street

On Wednesday evening, July 2, about 5 o'clock in the evening the traffic signal gate at the railway crossing on 15th Street was put into operation. The gates are a safety feature installed by the railway company and work by electricity. Approximately one month was required to complete the work.

While the train is still a safe distance down the track an electrical switch is tripped that lowers the gates. The speed of the train is also a governing factor in the distance from which the gates are lowered. That is to say, the faster the train is going the further the distance will be between the engine and the crossing.

In order to make the crossing still more satisfactory, the city had men out working on the street at the tracks. Some of the rough places in the street about the rails were smoothed out. This gives a smoother ride to motorists while crossing the tracks.

Ben Guill To Run Again If —?

It was reported from Chicago Monday afternoon that Ben Guill of Pampa would make a second race for Congress on the Republican ticket in November if Eisenhower was the nominee of the Republican party.

If Guill gets into the race, this will be a second time that he and Congressman Walter Rogers have fought it out. Guill was elected to Congress from this district over ten years ago in a special election over two Democratic nominees. He was defeated by Rogers in the November election.

CANDIDATES TO SPEAK Three Meetings To Be Held in Randall County

Three candidate rallies are coming up in Randall County before the primary election on July 26.

The first candidate rally will be held at the Lamar School building in South Amarillo on Friday night of this week, July 11.

In Canyon all candidates for county and precinct offices will be called upon to speak at the bandstand on Friday night, July 18. This is the regular candidate rally which is sponsored by The Canyon News. A loudspeaker is being provided for the occasion.

On Monday night, July 21st, a rally will be held at the McMurry Acres community house on Western Avenue, south of the Canyon highway. J. W. Day is in charge of arrangements. A number of state candidates will be present to speak as well as Randall County candidates.

Dollar Day To Be Observed Friday

The holiday is over, the wheat harvest is finished and Dollar Day is coming up. This makes up a condition that many business people believe will lead to some of the best Dollar Day values that have been offered since the practice was revived nearly a year ago. This month the big day falls on the second Friday instead of the first Friday of the month.

The change was made in the day the big values would be offered because the regular Dollar Day fell on Friday, the Fourth of July, this year. Many merchants planned to be closed that day and yet they did not want to deprive their customers the usual monthly Dollar Day values. The simple answer to this question was to postpone Dollar Day values until Friday, July 11, so that is what was done.

After all the excitement of a holiday week end and a few days of rest most people will be happy to see life return to routine. One of the best ways to get back into the swing is through the values offered on Dollar Day, point out local merchants.

MacArthur Scores Truman in GOP Speech Monday

General Douglas MacArthur was the keynote speaker Monday night at the Republican National Convention at which time a candidate for President on the Republican ticket will be selected Thursday.

MacArthur spoke in his usual powerful and deliberate manner, carefully selecting his words and phrases. No names were spoken by the General but it was clear that his attack was directed toward President Truman and General Eisenhower, a strong contender for the GOP nomination.

The convention turned down the Taft plan to steam roller the convention into seating a large majority of the contested delegates from Texas and six other states.

Speech after speech will be made on the floor of the convention before a vote is taken for the convention nominees.

Wheat Harvest Reported Over

The wheat harvest in the area has all but ended, reported John Brazill Tuesday afternoon. He went on to say that there were a few scattered fields left in which harvest was still going on but for all practical purposes the harvest season is over.

As far as county officials know their earlier estimate of 1,500,000 bushels of wheat for the county is the approximate yield. The exact figure in relation to the yield will not be known until it is released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

It was also reported that a large number of the farmers were storing their wheat and getting a government loan on it instead of selling it immediately.

Museum Draws Visitors from All 48 States

For the first time in its history the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum was visited during a one-month period by people from all 48 states. Boone McClure, director, said every state and nine foreign countries were represented during June.

More than 8000 people viewed the museum's collections during June, with Texas leading with 6,714. Oklahoma visitors numbered 319; New Mexico, 168; California, 117; and Illinois, 113. United States territories and foreign countries represented were Alaska, Hawaii, Canada, Japan, England, Italy, Turkey, New Zealand and Uruguay.

Since the museum opened in 1933, nearly 800,000 people have registered, and McClure said that many visitors who did not register were not recorded. It was not until 1941, when McClure came to West Texas State College, that the museum was opened more than two afternoons a week.

This year's total visitors through June number 46,415, compared with 34,729 last year. McClure reports attendance running as high as 1700 a day during the spring, and as high as 1200 for some Sunday afternoons.

Other foreign countries represented this spring by visitors included Puerto Rico, Guam, Yugoslavia, Australia, Brazil, The Netherlands, France, Germany, Norway, Scotland, Mexico, The Philippines, Argentina and Greece.

Keeping Up With GOP'ers

It is hard to keep up with the National Republican Convention in Chicago. While progress has been made toward the selection of a national ticket, the work of the convention has been slowed down by contests. These are confined to Southern delegations, with the 38 votes of Texas as the big prize.

Senator Taft controls the convention. The plans of the GOP National Committee in seating all Taft delegates was upset Monday when all of the minor candidates threw in with the Eisenhower forces to oust the Taft forces.

The Credential Committee is hearing contests of various states, and under instructions of Taft are following the advice of the National Committee. It will not be possible to report on this committee's findings before late Wednesday.

The outcome? Of course Taft will likely win enough votes in the Credential Committee to win the nomination; IF the Eisenhower forces cannot hold in check the Warren, MacArthur, Stassen and other minority groups. IF the delegates still want to go before the people with clean hands, Taft delegates will not be seated.

Keep tuned Thursday for the nomination speeches.

Candidates are urged to reserve space in the coming two issues on Friday of this week in order to be assured of good positions in the section which will go to voters in South Amarillo.

New High Record Is Set for Week Palo Duro Park

During the past seven days a new high record of attendance was registered at the Palo Duro State Park.

A total of 7,068 persons paid admissions to the Park during the week which ended Sunday night. The previous high record made in 1951 brought a total of 7,039 persons during the Fourth of July week end.

GOVERNOR ALLAN SHIVERS

Governor Allan Shivers Will Visit Canyon Thursday Noon at Luncheon

Governor Allan Shivers is on a visit to the Plains in his campaign for re-election to a second full term. He will be in Canyon Thursday noon for a luncheon with Canyon friends. The luncheon will be served in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church, and will be a joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions Club. Other friends of the Governor are invited to attend the luncheon, but they must secure tickets at $1.00 in advance from The News office, from C. B. McClure or Mrs. Maude Walters by six o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Postal Receipts Show Increase Over Last Year

Postal receipts released by Postmaster Guy Harp show a total of 11,014.16 for the second quarter of the calendar year. This figure shows an increase of almost $2,000 over the same period last year. Last year's second quarter showed a total of $9,382.75.

The postmaster said that this year's receipts for the second quarter would have been much better if it had not been for the dry weather we had in March. During this time it looked as if there would be no wheat crop and there was a noticeable slump in stamp sales, Harp explained.

The end of June was also the date for closing the books of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year. Total receipts for this fiscal year are $47,121.43 in Canyon. This figure is almost $10,000 above the total receipts for the previous fiscal year. The year before the total receipts were $38,974.17.

One Light Sprinkle Is Only Moisture

One of the heaviest electrical storms of this area hit last Wednesday night.

Only a sprinkle of rain fell with the storm, measuring .05 of an inch.

While showers have fallen at various places over the Panhandle during the past week, Canyon has missed all of this moisture.

CROP Emergency Drive Continues

An emergency drive for two car loads of wheat is being made by the local workers for the Christian Rural Overseas Program. The drive is to last through the 30th of July.

During the last days of June some of the workers compiled a report which showed less than one car of wheat pledged. This total also included the donations that were given the drive instead of wheat.

Donations of money are accepted by those people who have no wheat to give. The workers arranged for the donations so everyone who desired to have a part in the program would have an opportunity to do so.

Local workers are doing a thorough job of canvassing the town in an attempt to meet the two car quota before the deadline of July 30.

A. G. (Gus) Thomas returned home Thursday after visiting in the home of Levi Cole. He enjoyed the visit of former acquaintances here.

City Gets Green Light in Bond Issue Election

Approximately 137 votes were cast Thursday in the bond election for the new sewer disposal plant and additional water mains. There were 131 affirmative votes cast for the new sewer disposal plant with only four votes against the issue.

The first part of the ballot dealt with the new water mains and additional fire plugs. There were 129 affirmative votes and five negative votes on this issue. Two of the ballots were reported as being too mutilated to count.

The need for a new disposal plant has been felt keenly during the past months. The liquid carried by the present system is almost twice what the plant was supposed to take care of when it was new. The system also requires two lift stations to keep the sewage flowing.

City Secretary Dudley Bayne explained that the new system would require no pumping stations. It is also being planned to grow with the town, which means that it will not become outdated as the present system has. It was also pointed out that the new system will not be so expensive to maintain as the present one has been during the past few years.

Officer Attacked While Giving a Speeding Ticket

Two men were jailed early this week for charges of assaulting a peace officer and driving while intoxicated. The attack was made upon officer W. W. Camp late Sunday afternoon when he apprehended the pair and went up to the car in which they were traveling. The incident occurred near the south city limits of Canyon on highway 87. Camp was preparing to give the pair a routine speeding ticket when the affray started.

One of the pair was still in jail Tuesday afternoon. He was James Lamb, a 23-year-old Happy boy. He was under bond of $500 and the charge against him was driving while intoxicated. He entered a plea of guilty to this charge early Monday morning before Judge Burney Slack in Randall County Court. At the same time he entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of assault.

The other person involved in the incident entered a plea of guilty to the assault charge in county court. He was released Monday afternoon after paying a fine for drunkenness in the city court.

The attack was quelled when Officer Camp pulled his gun and fired a shot. No one was hit by the shot but in glancing off a metal part of the car and going through one of the glasses, the bullet knocked a sliver of glass into the shoulder of one of the men.

No Absentee Vote In Bond Election

City Secretary Dudley Bayne announced early this week that no absentee votes were cast in connection with the recent bond election. The election was held Thursday, July 3. Less than half-a-dozen votes were cast against the bond issue on both of the two counts being voted upon.

The ballot was divided into two parts. One question upon which the voters were to decide concerned additional water mains and fireplugs for the town. The other part of the ballot was dedicated to the new sewer disposal plant the town needs.

There was no way of immediately determining the percentage of the qualified voters to cast a ballot. It was believed that something less than 50 per cent of the voters showed up at the poll.

Heat Wave Is Busted in Two

The heat wave which continued for two weeks was broken Monday when a cold wave hit the Panhandle.

The temperature of a prevailing 100 degrees sagged to 55 degrees Monday night; almost one-half of the former high level for the Panhandle.

A little moisture fell on the north Plains during Monday night but none fell here in Canyon.

It was predicted Tuesday morning that the temperature would gradually rise until 90 degrees was hit again in the afternoon.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

John L. Smith Should Be Elected Congressman-at-Large on July 26

The Dallas News performed a great service to the voters of the Panhandle by publishing a map which gives the location of the seven candidates for Congressman-at-Large from Texas. The map is a strong plea for support of John Lee Smith of Lubbock for the job. The map, while not entirely accurate so far as the entire state is concerned, is a strong indictment against those voters in the Panhandle who are talking about voting for some candidate from far away places while we have a real West Texan right in our midst.

We would not be so strong for John Lee Smith if he were not so highly capable and deserving of the job. The fact that he comes from a section of Texas which has the legal and moral rights to hold the job in the future is the strongest argument in favor of his candidacy.

Let's look at the map:

Here is Herb Petry, Jr., of Dimmitt county, right down on the border of Old Mexico.

Just north of Petry is Charles M. Dickson of Bexar county, far from the center of the state.

East of Dickson is Phil Hamburger of Harris county, which almost touches the Gulf of Mexico.

Next comes Edwin O. Nimitz of Orange county, right in the Southeastern tip of the state.

North of Nimitz, but near the Louisiana border comes Martin Dies, the man with such a vivid imagination, who claims that he was forced out of Congress by Roosevelt because he opposed the President. That's funny, indeed.

And just one county to the west of Dies is Roy Selman from Houston county.

All of these candidates are far east or south of the center of population. Hamburger of Harris county is the only man in the race who might be expected to continue his job when the State is redistricted.

On the other hand, we have in John Lee Smith a candidate who is honest and honorable, and who by all of the rights of redistricting will hold the center of a new district when the legislature redistricts the state in 1953.

Regardless of the ability of any of these other candidates, John Lee Smith should be OUR candidate in this race. Let's support him.

Governor Allan Shivers To Bring His Campaign to the Panhandle

Governor Allan Shivers will speak this week at various points in the Panhandle. Wherever he speaks he will be well received. When the voters cast their ballots on July 26 Governor Shivers will receive the bulk of the support of the Panhandle.

We are of the opinion that the voters of Texas will resent the type of campaign which Ralph Yarborough is conducting against the Governor. We are of the opinion that such a smear campaign will fall flat on its face when the votes are cast.

Allan Shivers knows the penalty to which any good man subjects himself in getting into politics. This has not deterred him in going ahead with his sworn duties. Let the smear spreaders continue and they will fall beneath the weight of their own mud!

Texas Swindle Is Exposed by the GOPers to View of the World

We have just received a booklet which is called "The Great Texas Swindle."

The publication deals with the Taft steal of Texas delegates in the State and National conventions.

Without doubt General Eisenhower was the popular candidate among the Republicans for the Texas delegation. But Taft controlled the conventions. On this Wednesday afternoon before the Texas case has been heard, it is clearly indicated that Taft will rule the National Convention, and may easily be the nominee of the party.

The question naturally arises: If there is so much fraud in the GOP camp that the Eisenhower group terms the Texas situation, "The Great Texas Swindle," wonder what will happen if Taft is the nominee?

Will Taft repudiate the so-called thieves in the Republican camp? Or will he be thrown in with the "bunch of swindlers" and be the chief of the bunch? Again we say, "On with the battle." There will be great doings in the November election.

Republican Leader Had Rather Lose With Taft Than Win Race

Perhaps the rucus in Chicago will be over by the time this appears in print.

We shall see.

As we view the situation, Senator Taft has thrown to the wild winds all matter of discretion and is making a stand to overcome his handicap for a third race for the nomination.

Taft has two strikes against him in the race for the presidency. His political machine has run rough shod over all opposition. This time last week we thought pretty well of the Senator, until the opening sessions of the Republican convention got under way. Now we are not so sure.

General Eisenhower has the respect of thousands of voters who would have flocked to his support if given the opportunity to vote for the General. It looks now (on this Wednesday afternoon, July 2) that the Republicans are bent on self destruction with Taft.

As the leader of the Taft forces in Texas is reported to have said: "We would rather be defeated with Taft than win with Eisenhower." He will probably have his choice.

The Canyon News Will Visit the Newcomers of Randall County

There are many newcomers in Randall county. Many of them have become acquainted with the people of Randall county through the candidates who are seeking election on July 26th.

In order that they may become better acquainted with the candidates, The Canyon News is publishing special editions the next two issues, July 16 and 23, which will be distributed among the residents of the county, especially in South Amarillo.

All candidates should have messages in these editions. Commercial advertisements of local firms will be omitted from the edition which is published and distributed in South Amarillo unless advanced arrangements are made by local firms to include ads in these editions. The rate will not be high for this special.

See us by Friday of this week, before it is too late.

Price Daniel Will Be Elected As Junior Senator from Texas

We are of the opinion that Attorney General Price Daniel will be elected United States Senator in the first primary.

The name of E. W. Napier of Wichita Falls appears first on the ballots of Randall county. He is practically unknown and is untried as a public official.

Lindley Beckworth has served for 14 years in the House of Representatives, and just why he quit this race to jump into the race against Price Daniel is hard to understand. Beckworth is probably a good man, but lacks a lot of being of Senatorial timber.

As we view the situation, Price Daniel stands head and shoulders over and above the other two men making the race. He is young enough to be vigorous, but old enough to be trained for his job. We shall consider it a great pleasure to cast a vote for Price Daniel for U. S. Senator.

Joe, thirteen years old, was puzzled over the girl problem, and talked it over with his pal, Willie. "I've walked to school with her three times," he told Willie "and carried her books. I bought her an ice cream soda twice. Now do you think I ought to kiss her?"

"Naw, you don't need to," Willie decided after thinking a moment. "You've done enough for that gal already."

TACTFUL

"I've decided on a name for baby," said the young mother. "I shall call her Euphrosyne."

There was a brief silence. Then: "We'll call her Elizabeth after my mother," the wife said sternly.

NATIONAL GUARD UNITS

About 1700 Guard units have been called to active duty since the beginning of the Korean War, according to Maj.-Gen. Raymond H. Fleming, Chief of the National Guard Bureau. The units were composed of 120,000 officers and men. A number of them have already been returned from Federal to State control.

EXCESS SUBSIDY?

President Truman has asked Attorney General McGranery to determine whether subsidy allowances by the Government for the new liner United States has been excessive and to take "corrective action" if necessary, as Federal authorities delivered the $78,800,000 vessel to the U. S. Lines for the contract price of $28,087,000.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt: "Peace is not going to be won without a real strengthening of our moral and spiritual fiber in this country."

NO MORE, PLEASE

This little girl had been in mischief all day long, and her mother punished her all day long.

Finally, just before supper, she was especially naughty and sassed her mother to boot. So for punishment her mother sent her to bed without any supper for being so naughty.

When she was ready for bed, she knelt to say her prayers. At the end of her prayers her mother was surprised to hear her say: "And God bless Mommy and Daddy, but please don't send them any more children, 'cause they don't know how to take care of the one they've got."

HOME COOKING

Two women were talking over a cup of tea one afternoon and one of them said:

"My husband has no bad habits whatsoever. He never drinks and he spends all his evenings at home. Why, he doesn't even belong to a club."

"Does he smoke?" asked the other woman.

"Only in moderation," was the former's reply. "He does like a cigar after he has a good dinner, but I don't suppose he smokes two cigars a month."

USE YOUR HEAD!

The judge had given his decision on a case and the attorney for the plaintiff rose and questioned it.

"I cannot allow you to reopen this case after I have given my decision," said the judge.

"Then I may as well sit down, Your Honor," replied the lawyer. "There's no use in knocking my head against a stone wall."

"I know there's no use in knocking your head against a stone wall," said the judge. "But I don't know of any other person who could perform the operation with less personal injury than yourself."

ADAPTABLE

Officer: "What did you do in civilian life?"

Draftee: "Oh, I mowed lawns, shod horses, taught school, milked cows, mixed concrete, laid bricks, felled timber, dug coal, dug ditches, painted houses, sailed ships, grew oranges, cut hair, washed windows, shot rabbits, sawed wood, drove cars, made shoes, waxed floors, picked cotton, set type, played saxophones, sold insurance, baked bread and built barns."

Officer: "Oh well, I guess we'll be able to fit you in somewhere."

Earl Alexander, British Field Marshal, returning from tour of Korea: "The people of England have been awfully ignorant of what is happening over there (Korea)."

July Wedding Plans Are Announced Mary Anne Sloan and Hoyt Kenmore

MISS MARY ANNE SLOAN

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Duke announce the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Mary Ann Sloan, to Mr. Hoyt Reece Kenmore, son of Mrs. F. H. Kenmore of Dimmitt. The services will be read in the First Baptist Church of Canyon on July 19.

Archeologists Find Temple To Love, War

CHICAGO—A 4,000-year-old temple for Inanna, the Goddess of Love and War, was unearthed by archeologists of the University of Chicago and the University of Pennsylvania at their joint dig at Nippur, Iraq, Donald E. McCown, field director and associate professor of archeology at the University of Chicago Oriental Institute, has reported.

One of the most monumental discoveries made by a postwar archeological expedition, the temple was one of three "finds" made in one week by the university scientists at the site some 100 miles south of modern Baghdad.

Stacked Like Books

The temple was discovered on a Tuesday. On Monday hundreds of tablets of the oldest-known language—Sumerian—were unearthed in the scribal quarters adjacent to the temple site. Stacked like books against the wall of a scribe's home, the tablets are expected to increase vastly the scholars' knowledge of Sumerian life and religion.

A third discovery, three large Sumerian statues from the early Dynasty (2300 B.C.), one with a royal inscription, was reported to the Oriental Institute by cable just after the announcement of the temple and tablet finds was made.

Described by Director McCown as "a rich haul," the discoveries were made when the scientists were just getting ready to close down for the season. Oriental Institute and the university museum have just authorized an extension of the expedition.

Complete Surprise

The discovery of Inanna's temple came as a complete surprise to the archeologists, who were looking instead for the temples of the family of the paramount god, Enlil. Enlil's temples, dating back to 2200 B.C., were excavated at five different levels by the University of Chicago and the University of Pennsylvania in 1948 and '50.

This 'Boston Tea Party' Staged To Aid England

STAMFORD, Conn.—A week's tea binge was held by 75,000 citizens recently in honor of Winston Churchill. It was part of an international drive to increase tea drinking in the United States and to help the tea-producing Sterling areas of the British Commonwealth and Republic of Indonesia to earn more dollars.

The event got under way in a very un-tea-party-like way, with a rollicking, noisy two-and-one-half mile-long parade led by the Mayor and the "Hot Tea Queen" of 1952. Behind them came Connecticut's Sen. William Benton, the consul-general of Indonesia, the vice consul of the British consulate, personal representatives of the Ambassadors of India, Ceylon and Pakistan, the President of the tea association of the United States, and the President of the tea bureau.

As the big-sized procession waddled through the town, tea-sipping Stamfordites saw floats laden with beautiful girls, antiquated cars, jazz bands, clowns, animals, marching bands, celebrities and cowboys. The parade was as hot and hearty as tea itself and for Stamford it was the greatest thing since P. T. Barnum.

Bride Accuses Her Mama Of Stealing New Hubby

CLEVELAND—The pretty wife of an air force private said that her husband wanted to marry her mother, 42.

Pfc. Kevin McDonald, 30, dated his mother-in-law when he was home on leave from an Air Force base in Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Rosemary McDonald, 22, told Judge Joseph A. Artl.

The bride introduced a letter her husband allegedly wrote to her mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Nye.

"My every thought is for you. Love is such a wonderful thing, and I want to confess I love you so very much. . . . How I need you and wish you were here so I could bundle you into my arms and hug and kiss you."

Mrs. McDonald, who lives with her mother, charged gross neglect and extreme cruelty in the divorce action she filed last summer.

D.P.'s Charge They Were Deprived of Liberty

ALBANY—Two displaced persons, Mr. and Mrs. August Pliskatis of Newark, initiated action in supreme court against John Smigel of Preston Hollow, N.Y., for denying them their liberty for more than 40 days.

The Pliskatis, natives of Lithuania, were brought to this country in 1949 from a D.P. camp in the British zone of Germany at the request of Mr. Smigel, according to the complaint.

They also asked $1,134 for 63 days of labor on the farm, and contended they had been detained so Mr. Smigel could continue to obtain their services.

Mr. Smigel denied the charges. He said they had received $80 a month and room and board for services and had been brought to the United States at their own request.

The tension in Berlin remains high.

Tree-Ring Calendar Dates Early Human And His Climate

Fifty years ago a young astronomer drove a wagon down a pine-forested mountainside in northern Arizona.

He was thinking idly of sunspots, those remarkable blotches on the blinding face of the sun which come and go in a definite rhythm of years. Then he began noticing the aged trees around him and the changes in the forest as he progressed downward toward the desert floor.

If climate could so affect growth, and if sunspots affected climate, as some scientists were saying, should not a history of sunspots be written in the slow year-by-year growth of trees?

Such was the idea that has given science a calendar-record of weather and human life in the southwestern United States reaching back nearly 2,000 years.

The astronomer's name was Andrew E. Douglass. Today, at 84, he is still on the job.

Trees grow by adding a new layer of wood each year just beneath their bark. In climates where winter halts this process for part of the year, the bands or rings are separate and distinct, an exact record of the age of each tree.

Climate varies the width of these rings, particularly in regions where rainfall or temperature is a crucial factor in plant growth. Prof. Douglass found such ring patterns could be matched in trees growing over wide areas.

By "crossdating" trees, tracing their rings back through overlapping lives of generations of trees, he gradually constructed a chronology of hundreds of years.

Sparkplug Lover Feared Dead in Sierra Snows

QUINCY, Cal.—Manuel Herrick, 78, whose sashays as a congressman from Oklahoma made news in the 1920's, is reported missing in the snow-buried California Sierras and is thought to be dead.

The frozen body of George L. Welch, 73, Colfax, Cal., Herrick's companion when they headed into the high country was found by a search party.

Herrick, a Republican, went to congress from the eighth Oklahoma district in 1921. He failed to win re-election.

He was labeled the "aerial daredevil of congress and the sparkplug lover of Washington." He won the titles by flying around Washington in Army airplanes and from his heart-balm court suits.

Binoocular Vision Covers Up for the Optic Papilla

CHICAGO, Ill.—At the back of every human eye is a spot or disk about a twelfth of an inch in diameter which is insensitive to light, so that the act of seeing cannot occur there. This is the blind spot, or optic papilla, where the optic nerve enters the eyeball, says the Better Vision Institute.

We are not normally conscious of being completely blind at this point, because of a remarkable arrangement of the eyes in binocular vision. The part of the visual field covered by the blind spot in one eye is covered by a corresponding sensitive area in the other, and the other eye takes over the seeing job in that part of the field.

Nevertheless, anyone can demonstrate to himself that he has a blind spot. On a piece of white paper make two black marks a couple of inches apart, the left one a square and the right a circle. Then close the left eye and fix the other on the square while the paper is moved toward and away from the eyes. A point will be found where the circle disappears. This is the point where the image falls upon the entrance of the optic nerve in the right eye.

Man Lives Full Six Months Without Dying in Hospital

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Sidney Grunauer, 55, left a Bronx hospital after four years. He was discharged because he hasn't "died" once in six months.

He suffers from a rare ailment known as a heart block combined with an "unknown factor" which creates a condition called ventricular fibrillation.

When an attack comes—and he's had dozens of them—Grunauer has no pulse. No heartbeat can be detected. His blood pressure becomes zero. A physician unfamiliar with his case might pronounce him dead.

The attacks last from seconds to several minutes. If they last more than eight minutes, hospital authorities said, the victim probably will die—permanently.

Meat Inspector Didn't Trust the Hamburger

BELLEVILLE, Ill.—A meat inspector walked into a cafe and asked to see the meat.

Escorted to the cooler by owner Joe Kosar, he carefully examined the hamburger for evidence of horse meat—which has created a big scandal in Illinois.

Then the inspector took off his hat and coat and ordered a hamburger plate.

LETHAL WEAPON

"We hadn't been married a week when he struck me with a piece of sponge cake," the plaintiff moaned.

"Disorderly conduct," the judge barked, glaring balefully at the offending husband. "Five dollars and costs."

"And, Judge," the wife amended, "I made that cake with my own two hands."

"Assault with a deadly weapon," His Honor corrected himself. "Six months at hard labor!"

WORKING WIVES

On the basis of a sample survey, the Census Bureau reports that more married women were working in 1951 than at the peak of World War II. There were about 10,200,000 married women in the labor force in April, 1951, as compared to 8,400,000 in April, 1944, when war production was at its height, an increase of 1,800,000.

This salute to the city of Marlin is from the San Saba News some years ago:

Over in Marlin, Texas, there has been built up, through four decades a remarkable health resort, rivaling the famed European watering place of Carlsbad, Bohemia.

Some forty years ago the citizens of Marlin needed an additional well to supply the city's daily requirements. So they hired a well driller. Choosing a likely spot not far from the center of the present business district, the driller sank a well to the usual 1500 feet but got a warm, mineral-tasting water. That wouldn't do for city use so he was told to go deeper; and the deeper he went, the hotter the water became. So after going to a depth of some 3,500 feet and finding only this hot mineral water, the city gave up in despair in that location. The hot water — with a temperature of 147 degrees — continued to flow in lavish quantities from this well and a ditch was made to carry off the water into a creek.

Some time later a traveling peddler, severely afflicted with rheumatism in his lower extremities, stayed over in Marlin and daily went to the ditch of hot mineral water and bathed in it. His affliction disappeared, the story goes, and he lost no time in telling people far and wide of his "Miraculous cure." Soon others were trying it with similar results. So it was not long before the people of Marlin began to realize that what appeared to be a "white elephant" on their hands promised to become a blessing in disguise. Not long afterward some enterprising doctors and citizens erected a modest bath house and piped the hot mineral water to it. People began to come and soon the bath house was too small for the needs. Later more adequate bath houses were built, hotels sprang up to accommodate the ever increasing flow of sufferers. Today, fine hotels; ample modern and completely equipped bath houses; clinics and hospitals, with large staffs of specialists, serve as many as 140,000 people annually who come from many states for relief from their ailments.

Sir Walter Raleigh wrote "A History of the World" while imprisoned in the Tower of London.

Rudyard Kipling, famous English author, lived in the United States for many years.

Building Permits Reflect Growth

Building permits in Canyon for the month of June climbed almost to the $50,000 mark. The June total was $49,500 which tops the May total by $16,550. In May the total building permits recorded at City Hall amounted to $32,950.

Residences or homes made up the bulk of building permits issued last month. Out of ten permits issued six were for homes or residential buildings. Two of the permits were for additions and one was for a garage, while the other was for an office building.

The long days of fair weather during June probably had a lot to do with the increase in building. Authorities in the building field said last winter when it was cold that the trend in building dropped sharply during inclement weather.

Myers and Miller Report on Boys State To Lions Wednesday

Members of the Lions Club heard about the practical education given young men at Boys State Camp. The camp is held in the vicinity of Austin and the two local boys who attended this year from Canyon were John Miller and Tommy Myers.

The boys heard talks by such dignitaries as Texas Governor Allan Shivers, Price Daniel and many others. They also heard about the FBI from Jim Kennedy, a special agent of that department for 15 years.

One of the main purposes of this camp is to give the boys a true perspective of the men who serve in official capacities in the various states. There are Boys State camps in 45 states.

The camps are divided into two political parties for their local elections. They have candidates for every office and they campaign for that office. And in this manner the boys rule themselves much in the same manner in which the United States is ruled. John and Tommy were selected this year to serve in the House of Representatives.

The boys in the camp learn about the developments of their actions through their local paper. The paper, which is a tabloid size, is worked up by the boys themselves. It is published every day during the six-day session of the camp.

The Lions also entertained two visitors Wednesday. They were J. E. Miller and Al Myers.

CAN'T BEAT UMPIRES

The Devil was always challenging St. Peter to a game of baseball, but St. Peter never took him up. Finally, the Dodgers, the Giants, and the Yanks all went to heaven. So, naturally St. Peter called up the Devil.

"Now, I'll play you that game of ball," he said.

"You'll lose," said the Devil.

"Oh, yeah?" said St. Peter.

"Right now I've got the greatest collection of baseball players you ever saw."

"You'll lose," said the Devil.

"You'll lose," said the Devil.

"What makes you so sure we'll lose?"

"Because," laughed the Devil, "we got all the umpires down here."

HER RISK

Mrs. Smith was reading a letter at breakfast. Suddenly she looked up suspiciously at her husband. "George," she said, "I've just received a letter from Mother saying she isn't accepting our invitation to come and stay as we do not appear to want her. I told you to write and say she was to come at her own convenience. You did write?"

"Er-yes," said George, "but I couldn't spell 'convenience,' so I made it 'risk'."

LIFE'S SWEETEST STORY

The old couple had just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Now all the guests were gone, and they sat by the open fireplace, hand in hand, with her head on his shoulder, and reminisced.

"Mary," he said tenderly, "you're still my sweetheart, in fact, I've never had another sweetheart because I never found anyone as sweet and beautiful as you."

"Henry," she replied, "you're as big a liar as ever, and I believe you just the same."

Shirley Joyce Elliott Becomes Bride Of Thomas L. Payne in Home Service

With only the immediate families and a few friends attending, Miss Shirley Joyce Elliott became the bride of Pfc. Thomas L. Payne during simple rites solemnized in the E. J. Mahler home at Wayside on Friday, July 4. Rev. E. H. Martin of Pampa officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Elliott of near Happy. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mahler of Wayside.

Arrangements of oriental ivy and orange leaves with baskets of white gladioli formed a background for the service.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Guy Watson of Wayside. Mrs. Roy Dodson of Vico Park sang "I Love You Truly."

Miss La Quita Patterson, the bride's only attendant, was attired in aqua nylon with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered organdy with white accessories and carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Cpl. Jack Dodson of Fort Huachuca, Ariz., served as best man.

A reception honoring the couple followed the ceremony. Robert Guza of Amarillo presided at the three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Glynn Mahler of Borger served at the crystal punch bowl.

Those attending, other than members of the families, were Mrs. John Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Abbott and Seleta, Jerry Buster, Mrs. Guy Watson and Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dodson, Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne are at home in Amarillo where he is stationed.

Both are graduates of Happy High School. Mr. Payne attended Wayland College before entering the service in January.

White - Colard Wedding Vows Said Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. White of Canyon are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Judy, to Jerry Colard of Lyon, Colorado. The parsonage of the Central Christian Church in Portales was the scene of the single ring ceremony which was performed by Rev. Wayne Parrish Saturday, July 5.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Whitten and Miss Shirley White of Canyon were the only attendants. Mrs. Whitten and Shirley are sisters of Mrs. Colard.

The bride was attired in a blue suit with white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

Mrs. Colard is a 1952 graduate of Canyon High School. She was a popular member of F. H. A. and the choir. Mr. Colard graduated from Lyons High School with the class of 1948. He is engaged in ranching at Lyons where the couple will make their home.

Rotary Club Will Meet Thursday in Regular Meeting

There will be no meeting of the Canyon Rotary Club next Tuesday due to the luncheon of the club which will be held Thursday noon of this week for the purpose of meeting Governor Allan Shivers.

This meeting will be a joint session with the Canyon Lions Club and other groups of citizens of Canyon.

Reservations must be made by 6 o'clock Wednesday night. The luncheon will be $1 per person.

Rev. Win Matsler, pastor of the Christian Church, spoke Tuesday at the luncheon of the Rotary Club. He traced the significance of the Sabbath Day as was established long before Christ who declared that "The Sabbath was made for man; and not man for the Sabbath."

Various attempts were made to change the day of rest. Governments have discovered that man is a seven day machine, and must have rest every seventh day in order that he may accomplish his best work.

The early Colonists of America recognized that observance of the Sabbath was a necessity as a day of rest; a day to be spent with the family; and for worship.

Observation of the Sabbath has made the American home possible.

North America was settled by men who observed the Sabbath and they came to this new country to set up a government in which the Sabbath would be observed.

Visitors were Spencer Whippo of Perryton; Harman M. Thomas of Hereford; Joe Bailey of Canyon; Sam Humphreys of Houston; Glenn H. Wright of Erick, Okla.; H. W. Richards, R. Earl O'Keefe, Arthur Osgood, Bob Hibbitts, A. G. Attebury, Frank Storm, Jr., Paul Fowler, J. E. Bowman, Ed Shaw, Van H. Allm, all of Amarillo.

Philip Murray, head of the Steelworkers Union, is being told that it is far from certain union members would have voted against acceptance of the companies' last offer if it had been submitted for a vote under Taft-Hartley procedure. There are signs that workers are not enthusiastic about strikes that mean losses in income in order to get some minor concession.

Stevenson, in acting coy about accepting a draft as presidential nominee for the Democrats, is maneuvering to escape being tagged as a "Truman man." The Governor knows that any Democrat carrying this tag may face a revolt in the South.

High Government officials in Washington, many of whom had started to look for new jobs, are changing their minds. They now see at least a 50-50 chance of staying on after January. Their gamble: The next President may well be either Stevenson or another Democrat, with no big job turnover either way.

James Byrnes, Governor of South Carolina, is suggesting that the South will blackball Stevenson, on the theory that this will bring pressure on the Democratic Party to agree to a civil-rights plank in the platform that the South can accept.

President Truman is convinced the Democrats can win again in 1952 with a campaign based upon the straight-out claim: "We gave you more than the Republicans will. They'll take away, rather than give more. We'll give more."

Co-hostesses were Mesdames George Hand, Frank Kimbrough and Charles L. Joyner.

Among those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Edwin Pettitt, Michael Morris, Cooley, Reynolds, Joyner, Kimbrough, Hand, McCaskill, Rev. and Mrs. Henry Seaman of Plainview, Misses Lucy Mae Yarnell, Kathryn Sensabaugh, Margaret Wimp, Mr. Warren Parker and Mr. Ewell Jennings.

Miss Cooley is an instructor in the department of physical education for women at West Texas State College. Mr. Reynolds is engaged in ranching near Canyon.

Mrs. Wes Kleinschmidt returned Wednesday night from Bakersfield, Calif., where she has been visiting with her daughter, son-in-law, and new grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Didier and Christopher Kleinschmidt Didier.

Dr. and Mrs. Andy Walsh, Jr., arrived last week from Kansas City, Mo., where Dr. Walsh had completed his internship. They will leave soon for Lorenzo where he is to establish his office.

Just Between You, Me and . . . the Gatepost

Who knows where the city limits extend west of town on Fourth Avenue? If you drive out that way and note the street markers you'll find them to first street but there's no marker showing the city limits. Probably the most important reason for having 'city limits' signs up out there would be to let people know how rapidly the town is growing.

Speaking of signs, there is one in the vicinity that makes it a little inconvenient for some motorists. It's the yellow sign south of the underpass on highway 87. This large sign obstructs the view of motorists coming into the highway from the first street south of the highway. The motorists entering the highway from the east have to go almost to the center of the highway before they can see the traffic approaching from the north.

We had a surprise awakening about car crashes when talking with a law enforcement official last week. It seems that most of the accidents are caused by the ordinary citizens who get in a hurry and become careless. As surprising as it may seem, the young people on the highway contribute very little to the number of accidents recorded on highways and streets.

The officer went on to point out that willful lawbreakers were among the most careful drivers on the highways. This is easily understood when you think about it for a moment. The burglar or robber knows that he must be careful on the highway. If he's picked up on a traffic charge he's sure to be recognized and the results would be a more serious charge. This leaves the ordinary citizen holding the bag for the record number of traffic accidents.

W. A. Moore, director of the Palo Duro Players, reported a good season this summer at the Branding Iron Theater. The doors of this theater were open to audiences four nights a week. This being the first time four nights runs were played there. Although the crowd for "The Glass Menagerie" almost broke the record for attendance it still lagged a little behind last year's production of "Kiss and Tell." More than 800 people flocked in to see "Kiss and Tell" last year. Almost 800 saw "The Glass Menagerie" this year. "Kiss and Tell" had a three night run while "The Glass Menagerie" ran four.

Besides offering the productions to the public four nights a week this year the Palo Duro Players also presented a play each week for four weeks. Now that it's all over those who took part in the productions breath a sigh of relief. Those whom we have contacted say it was a lot of fun, a lot of work as well as a lot of satisfaction.

Gene Hill, one of the Palo Duro Players, says that next year the group hopes to do some revival plays. This seems like a good idea to carry out at that time. The Branding Iron Theater will have been in existence about six years by next summer. Many good plays have been produced there and yet they are not such old plays as to have been forgotten. In fact, it seems that the time will be the best possible to give the public the reproduction of the best plays presented in the Branding Iron Theater to date.

Charlie Donnell really looked the part of the working man last week. When we saw him downtown he had cement all over his shoes and was pretty well streaked with sweat. He explained that he had been pouring the cement floor for the concession stand out at the drive-in theater that will soon be in operation here.

A drive-in theater will add a great deal of convenience to Canyon. We can see this from our own personal needs. Our little two year old daughter is already asking to 'go see the movie show from car.' Every time we pass a drive-in theater returning home from Amarillo at night we almost have a fight on our hands to keep from stopping to see the show. It's going to be nice to have a drive-in movie located so conveniently near home.

Remodeling Job Almost Finished At Baptist Church

A $10,000 remodeling job is in its final stage at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the church, said last week that the work was begun in May and that work in the auditorium would be finished about the 19th of July. There will be additional work in some of the other departments which will provide more educational space.

The big difference made by the remodeling job will show up in the main auditorium of the church. This entire section is being completely repainted. The ceiling is a white tinted with sea foam green, a color known as off-white. The walls are an eye-rest green and all of the visible lighting fixtures will be removed and the light will come from recessed fixtures.

Natural finish birch plywood wainscoting has been used about the choir and choir cove. The choir rail and the sections of the auditorium which extend downward from the balcony are also finished in birch plywood. The new choir seats will match this natural birch. These individual seats will be set in a circular position on the three elevations of the new choir section.

A new Baldwin no. 10 organ has recently been installed at the church. Both the organ and the piano will be located in recessed spots at either extreme of the pulpit platform. The presidium arch and choir cove, the part of the church that will be looked at the most, have been finished in a beautiful rose tan color. The entire front section of the auditorium is designed to be more efficient for choir singers and more attractive to the congregation.

The aisles will have dusty-rose runners leading down to the front. Carpeting will also be placed across the front, rostrum and steps leading up to the pulpit platform. Five new oak pews will be added to the auditorium.

Approximately 15 people have worked on the remodeling job since it was started in May.

U. S. POPULATION

The Census Bureau estimates that, on May 1st, the population of the United States had climbed to 156,602,000, a gain of 819,000 since January 1. The figures included members of the armed forces stationed overseas.

DEFICIT

Government experts privately estimate that the Government will wind up its fiscal year, on June 30, in the red, but about two or three billion dollars better off than expected. The tentative deficit is estimated at around $6,250,000,000, compared with the $8,200,000,000 deficit estimated by President Truman last January.

Governor Will Speak Friday Statewide Cast

GOVERNOR ALLAN SHIVERS

At the midway point of his two-week tour through the state, Governor Allan Shivers will make appearances in five West Texas cities and San Antonio during the remainder of the week.

The governor started his tour shortly after being named chairman of the National Governors' Conference by fellow chief executives at the Houston meeting. The honor in Houston, the highest that governors of the United States and its territories can pay an associate, climaxes a long string of achievements by Governor Shivers.

The Texas governor already was serving as chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference. His election as head of the National Conference created the rare situation of one governor holding both these important positions simultaneously.

Governor Shivers was chairman in 1951 of the 22-state Interstate Oil Compact Commission and has just concluded a term on the Executive Committee of the National Governors' Conference.

The Governor made appearances in Lubbock and Brownfield Wednesday, July 9, then will divide time between Lubbock and Amarillo the following day.

From Amarillo he will go to San Angelo, then to Odessa, where his weekly broadcast will originate on Friday night, July 11. The broadcast may be heard over Radio Station KLYN in 8:45.

Visits in Midland and San Antonio Saturday will wind up the first ten days of the governor's tour of Texas.

TREASURY BONDS

The U. S. Treasury has announced that its recent offering of $3,500,000,000 of 1952 had been over-subscribed more than three times, with the total from all sources being about $11,695,000,000. It was the first "bank issue" of marketable bonds since the early days of World War II and the volume of sources was so great that commercial banks received only a percentage of their subscriptions over their assured minimum.

MEXICO CITY SINKING

Mexico City. — According to Mexico City's irrigation chief, Mexico City is sinking more than a foot each year and millions of dollars are needed to stop it. The rapid drying out of the spongy volcanic subsoil under the capital city is believed responsible for the sinking, which amounted to 1 foot 8 inches in 1951.

The monkey is the only animal that will use sticks or stones as weapons.

U. S. trade balance in meats low as imports increase.

Cussing the government is always fun, but on the 26th of this month you'll have a chance to do it with some effect.

That's the date of the Democratic precinct conventions.

In the past, relatively few citizens have attended these meetings. An unprecedented number was present for the first of the "presidential series" beginning May 3.

These citizens sent their delegates to the county conventions on May 6. In turn, the counties sent delegates to the State Convention at San Antonio, where Texas' representatives were chosen for the National Democratic Convention in Chicago July 20-26.

Some Texans will still be in Chicago when the "state series" of conventions begins at the precinct level on July 26, the same day that the first primary elections will be held.

By that time we'll know who the Democratic Party nominee is and what the party platform is. So, at the precinct conventions, we can express ourselves, by resolution or otherwise, and thus send our opinions up the line to be considered at the top.

We can also make sure that the people we send to the county conventions are the right kind of people—according to the way most of us judge the right kind of people.

Of course, there are going to be factions again — the liberal and conservative factions — and they will again struggle for control of the conventions.

This struggle, as a matter of fact, has never died down. It goes through the "presidential series" of conventions, which reach their climax at Chicago.

But even before that phase ends, precinct workers are on the job, lining up their plans for the "state series."

The latter conventions are important not only because they give Democrats an opportunity to express themselves at the grass roots level. They also lead to election of the State Democratic Executive Committee, which will control the party machinery for the next two years.

And if you don't think control of the party machinery is important, look at what Taft has been doing to Eisenhower in the Republican Party ranks.

Another example is this: if the "Loyal" Democrats had controlled the State Democratic Executive Committee, they would have seated the "bolting" delegates at the San Antonio convention.

Thus the Texas Democratic delegation at Chicago would have been the "Loyal" leaders. Governor Shivers and his group would have been the "rump" delegation. The reverse is true, however, because the State Democratic Executive Committee at San Antonio seated the majority groups, rather than the bolters.

Just as the State Democratic Executive Committee was in a key position at San Antonio this year, so will that body have considerable power for the next two years.

That's why it is important to have the right people as your representatives on the committee — the right people, I say again, according to the majority's judgment.

I have been referring here to the Democrats, but it is no less important for the Republicans to attend their conventions. Perhaps it is doubly important, in that the Republicans do not hold primary elections.

They select their candidates by the convention method.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE RESERVES

Nation-wide reserves for unemployment insurance at the end of 1951 reached the all-time peak of $7,800,000,000, enough to meet average postwar annual benefits payments for five and a half years, according to the National Conference Board.

MOTOR VEHICLE TOLL

In 730 days, according to the National Safety Council, 72,600 persons in this country were killed by automobiles and 280,000 were permanently injured, prompting President Truman to call "the private automobile the world's deadliest weapon."

According to a report of the National Industrial Conference, an ever-growing share of the national wealth is finding its way into units of the Federal Government, which now holds thirty-five to forty per cent of American savings.

In 1951, 6,282 new physicians were licensed in this country. This was offset by the death of 3,642 during the year, making the net increase 2,640 and a total of 211,680 physicians in the United States.

Beckman - Jones Nuptial Vows, High Mass Read in Impressive Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony Wednesday morning, July 2, in St. Mary's Church, Umbarger, Miss Theresa Anne Beckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Beckman, became the bride of Jesse M. Jones of Joplin, Mo. Father Andrew Marthaler witnessed the ceremony and offered the Nuptial High Mass which followed.

The High Altar held white Marconi daisies in gold vases and arrangements of orchid and white snapdragons decorated the side altars. The senior choir sang the Mass of Missa Clara and "O Sanctissima" was sung at the offertory. Miss Mary Janssen, organist, accompanied the choir and played the processional and recessional by Carl Rossini. Mass servers were Johnny and Gerald Beckman, brothers of the bride, and Jimmy Janssen and Willie Artho. The family pews were marked with bows of orchid and white satin. The white satin-draped predieu also was decorated with bows of orchid and white satin.

Ushers were Allan Brockman and Oscar Prillas. Andrew Tyszkiewicz, of Amarillo, served the bridegroom as best man.

Miss Elvira Boyd, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Miss Elizabeth Ann Beckman, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. The little flower girls were Mary Phyllis Beckman, sister of the bride and Annette Beckman, cousin of the bride. They wore identical gowns of Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with a basque bodice and full ballerina length skirts. They wore matching Juliet caps. Miss Boyd wore deep orchid and carried a nosegay of deep orchid asters tied with matching streamers.

Miss Beckman wore orchid and carried a nosegay of deep orchid asters, tied with matching streamers. They wore matching lace mitts. The flower girls wore pale orchid and carried flower balls of deep orchid, tied with matching streamers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported white silk lace over taffeta, styled similar to those of the bridesmaids. Over this she wore a redingote of white bridal satin, designed with a fitted bodice which buttoned to the waist in front with tiny satin covered buttons. The long sleeves came to points over her hands. The Queen Anne collar was of lace and satin. The skirt ended in a short train. Her two tiered veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a satin Juliet cap, edged with orange blossoms. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and matching ear rings. Her bouquet was a white orchid, cascaded with stephanotis and tied with white satin streamers.

For something old, the bride wore the orange blossoms from her maternal grandmother's wedding wreath; something new was her attire; something borrowed was her ear rings, which belong to her mother; and something blue was a tiny blue bow, tied in her bouquet.

Immediately after Mass the bride was presented with a Statue of the Blessed Virgin by Miss Christina Friemel, Sodality Perfect, and Miss Marcella Prillas. After placing the statue on the Blessed Virgins' Altar, the bride presented the statue with a tiny bouquet of stephanotis from her bouquet. Then she said the Memorare.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Janssen were host and hostess to the bridal party and Father Marthaler for a breakfast in the Janssen home. At noon, a dinner was served in the home of the bride to Father Marthaler, the bridal party and relatives. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, also in the Beckman home, a reception honored the couple. The serving table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Misses Betty Higgins and Hila Fay Begert alternated at the guest book.

In the evening a dance was given in the Knights of Columbus hall.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart Academy and Sacred Heart College in Wichita, Kansas, where she majored in music. She was a member of St. Mary's senior choir and she has directed the junior choir at St. Mary's since its organization. She has taught piano, organ and voice for several years.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Price College, Amarillo, and he served four years in the Navy. He received his discharge the latter part of June. He will be employed by Douglas Aircraft in Tulsa, Okla. After a short trip to the Ozarks, the couple will live in Tulsa.

For a going away, the bride chose a white silk print suit with white and red accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Beckman chose a navy nylon shantung, with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was a white glamilla.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Turner, from Hammond, Ind.; Mrs. Verne Landis, Mr. and Mrs. William Beckman, Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Knight and Mrs. Catherine Klock, all from Elgin, Illinois.

Drivers Appear Belligerent Out On Open Road

(Note: No. 1 in a special series of three safety articles for The News.)

Upon observing motorists who get the idea that when a person gets behind the steering wheel of a motor vehicle he, or she, feels the protection of a kind of privacy enjoyed in the home. Nothing is further from the truth. When you're driving a car you're like a goldfish in a bowl.

Traffic officers of the city, county and state are spotted about in strategic places to keep an eye on motor traffic. These authorities do a thorough patrolling job on busy highways. They're in constant contact with each other through their radio sets. This system makes it almost impossible to escape the consequences of any traffic violation.

One thing you notice when observing motor traffic is the lack of driver courtesy. Often if one car passes another, the driver that was passed seems to resent this and recklessly speeds up in an attempt to solve his wounded pride. This is one danger on the highway.

There's another type of danger which comes from the sight-seeing driver. You see these drivers weaving all over the highway while giving a close scrutiny to the scenery of the country. In addition to the sight-seeing driver there's the lane-straddler. This is the type of person who wants his share of the road out of the center.

Such drivers make the highway unsafe and at the same time contribute greatly to the dangers of operating a motor vehicle. The paradox of the situation is that most of these drivers are extremely courteous while walking along the town's sidewalks. But in the privacy of a car on a public highway, most drivers seem to have the idea that all other cars should move aside for them.

When you get a group of such drivers together they make up a situation that is almost impossible to control. It's not greatly unlike the irresistible force meeting the immovable object.

Hard to Locate The Cause of Polio Among the Adults

It is believed that the majority of adults have at one time been infected by the virus of poliomyelitis, usually without manifestations, says Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer. In view of the above it is expected that most of the recognized cases will be among children.

Only a small proportion of infected persons are clinically recognizable. When symptoms are manifested, they usually comprise an acute illness with fever, headache, and almost always a characteristic stiffness of the neck and spine. Some degree of paralysis may or may not occur during the first few days of illness.

During the poliomyelitis season the following measures are recommended:

1. Insist upon safe waste disposal so that human excreta is not exposed to disease transmitting vectors.
2. Insist on elimination of fly breeding sources and do not depend upon community wide airplane spraying or fogging machines as a substitute for basic sanitation.
3. Food supplies, including milk, must be protected against contamination.
4. Always demand safe water for drinking or swimming pools.
5. Insist that garbage be kept in covered containers and disposed of by incineration or sanitary fill.
6. Eliminate all insanitary conditions on your own premises.
7. Practice good personal hygiene with particular attention to personal cleanliness.
8. Avoid excessive physical strain during poliomyelitis season.
9. Isolation in bed of all children with fever pending diagnosis by physician.

Aneurin Bevan, who leads the left wing of Britain's Labor Party, is indicating to colleagues in Parliament the idea that the U. S., not the Communists, stirred up the war in Korea. Some of Bevan's ideas, including one that truce negotiations had been wrecked by bombing of Communist power plants, have a way of being picked up by publications in Russia.

Gen. Mark Clark, Supreme Commander in the Far East, inclines to the view of other generals who have held his job that the war in Korea might be ended if the military forces could have more leeway and if diplomats would stop trying to run military operations. Diplomats have insisted on calling the turns.

Chaplain Reads Double-Ring Service For Brasher - Bales Vows in Plainview

Memorial Chapel of the First Baptist Church of Plainview was the setting for the marriage of Dana Sue Brasher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Brasher, 2021 West 9th Street, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Clark of Canyon, to Russell Bales, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lain of Springlake.

Rev. Clifford L. Brasher, assistant chaplain of the U. S. Army and cousin of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony before an archway of greenery, palms, and tall basket of white gladioli. Tall candelabra stood on each side of the archway and also formed a background for the archway.

Beth Dobson at the organ played the nuptial prelude and the traditional wedding marches.

Kenneth Brasher, brother of the bride, and Alice Bales, sister of the groom, served as candlelighters.

James Sinclair of Portales, New Mexico, sang "To Each His Own," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Because."

Robert Brasher, brother of the bride, was best man. Frank Ford of Lubbock and Eugene Watson were groomsmen. Ushers were Dan Willis and Travis Allen.

Vida Mae Findley, maid of honor, wore a gown of green taffeta made with a scalloped waist line and a hoop skirt. She wore long lace mitts set with rhinestones and her headdress was of matching taffeta trimmed with lace and feverfew. Her bouquet was of orchid asters.

Mary Bales, sister of the groom, of Springlake, and Atta Mae Johnston were bridesmaids. Their dresses were fashioned similar to honor attendant and their bouquets were of orchid asters.

Little Miss Sharon Dian Hanna, flower girl, wore a frock of white satin fashioned after the bride's.

As the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, a white aisle cloth was laid for her. She was a picture in a gown of white slipper satin styled with a lace yoke and a fitted bodice with tiny covered buttons extending down the front. The long sleeves tapered to graceful points over her hands. The full skirt fell into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of nylon was attached to a ruffled halo. Her entire costume was hand-made by her mother. She carried a white Bible topped with white roses and stephanotis.

For something old she wore a gold bracelet set with pearls belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. D. P. Clark, of Canyon. This bracelet had been worn by Mrs. Wallace Huff, granddaughter of Mrs. Clark, and Mrs. Gordon Williams, granddaughter-in-law of Mrs. Clark, at their weddings. Something new was a single strand of pearls, a gift from her uncle; something borrowed was her Bible which belongs to Mrs. Clifford Brasher who had carried it at her own wedding; something blue was a garter.

The mother of the bride wore a turquoise nylon dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a figured nylon crepe dress and a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the parlor of the church. The receiving line was formed by Mr. and Mrs. Brasher, the bride and groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Lane. The table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of orchid asters. Green tapers tied with orchid bows completed the table decorations. Miss Marjean Phelps served the three-tiered wedding cake and Mrs. Travis Allen poured the punch. Other members of the house party were Mesdames R. L. Findley, J. A. Wolfington, Everett Hanna and B. C. Johnston. Mrs. Don Willis presided at the guest book.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a honey-dew nylon dress with matching hat and a white rose corsage. Her jewelry, a gift of the bridegroom, was dangling gold ear rings set with stones to match her dress.

The couple is at home at 1702 West Eleventh.

Mrs. Bales graduated from Plainview High School and is employed by Findley Roofing Company. Mr. Bales is a graduate of Olton High School and is with the Plainview Hospital and Clinic Foundation. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bales will attend Wayland College this fall. Mr. Bales is studying for the ministry there.

Julia Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Black of Borger, visited recently with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Black and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. C. Middleton.

Palo Duro Players End Good Season

The season's plays by the Palo Duro Players ended with the production "Father of the Bride." It was reported that the four night run of this play almost broke all records of attendance at the Branding Iron Theater.

During the four night run the play was seen by people from seven states and 39 towns.

This season was described as being more successful than most of the Palo Duro Players believed it would be at first. Besides instigating four night runs for the first time, the Players also took on the difficult task of presenting a play a week during the four week run. In order to do this it was necessary to practice one play after giving another. The difficult feat was performed admirably.

The four shows which were given during the four week run were Gramercy Ghost, What A Life, The Glass Menagerie and Father of the Bride. Each play ran four nights with the final production having a split run. The Players took time out Thursday night of their final play to be hosts of the Writers' Conference that was being held at West Texas State. This threw the four night run of their final play to Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

HATEFUL HUBBY

The irate wife had just finished giving her husband a sharp lecture. "And don't you argue with me, either!" she snapped at the end of her tirade.

"Argue?" replied the poor man, "why, I never said a word!"

"No," retorted his wife, "but you were listening in a most unpleasant way."

Real reason why Gen. Omar Bradley, Chairman of U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, did not tell the British that power plants in Korea were to be bombed is that this was a top-secret project. Knowledge of plans was kept to the fewest possible individuals out of fear that even the hint of a leak would alert the Communists and cost the lives of more American pilots.

The job of knocking out the power plants on the Yalu River was given largely to U. S. Navy and Marine air forces because of their specialized skill in hitting targets. Those services use dive-bombing techniques that are not utilized by the Air Force.

General Bradley is concerned about the continued rift among the services over fields of power and money. Air Force keeps pressing for full control over guided missiles, strategic bombing and atomic weapons.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT OF TEXAS FROM YOUR CONGRESSMAN Walter Rogers

The Closing Days of the Session

The drive for adjournment got under full steam during the last week of June and the first days of July. This meant extra long sessions in both Houses of Congress and in all committees.

This is especially true in the conference committees between the House and the Senate. When a legislative matter passes both Houses but is amended in either House, the legislation is submitted to a conference committee between the House and Senate to adjust differences between the Houses. Since the House and Senate have differed on most of the major bills this year, the conferees have had some tough and exhaustive battles.

The GI bill for veterans of the Korean War hit this snag on one major explosive issue and several minor ones. The explosive issue was whether or not the benefits should go directly to the veteran and thereby permit him to make his own arrangements and attend to his own business in obtaining the educational benefits.

A select committee of the House known as the Teague Committee made a detailed investigation of the program created under the World War II GI Bill. This committee uncovered some of the most unconscionable raids on the public treasury by educational institutions that could be imagined. These raids were not confined to fly by night schools, although these schools contributed a substantial portion of these vicious practices.

Many of the leading educational institutions in this country were permitting practices that were unbelievable. The victim was the American taxpayer. He was not only victimized through unnecessary and useless administrative expenses, but he was also victimized by institutions obtaining funds from the public treasury through various practices not anticipated by the Congress when the legislation was passed.

These practices amounted to a federal subsidy of both State and private schools under what was intended as a program to benefit the veterans. Needless to say, many veterans were also injured by these practices.

The Veterans Committee, working in cooperation with the Teague Committee, undertook to close these leaks in the treasury. An attempt was made in the Senate to revive the old practice of paying money to the schools rather than to the veterans. This proposal would have created an almost impossible administrative problem that would have required thousands upon thousands of dollars for administrative expense and federal employees and untold red tape both to the Veterans Administration and to the veteran.

The House was able to prevent this. It is the opinion of most of the members of the House and most of the members of the Senate that the bill agreed upon will be a major step forward in cutting out red tape and measurably reducing administrative expense and federal employees in this program. There was one particular amendment that I insisted upon being in the bill. This was concerning GI home loans to veterans.

My amendment provided that a World War II veteran who was recalled to service in the Korean War would not lose his entitlements to get a home loan under the Korean bill, merely because he had used his entitlements under the World War II bill.

When we're thinking of places we'd rather not be these hot July days, most of us put Chicago high on the list. We can wilt at the mere thought of crowded trolleys, jammed traffic, stepped-up sucker prices, and the sun beating down on city streets. Even the air-conditioned convention hall, where all the excitement will be focalized, holds little charm on a hot July day. We relax on our own back porch, read the news and swear we wouldn't be there for anything in the world.

No siree, we wouldn't consider it. . . But wouldn't it be fun! Fun to watch the politicians bustle and preen. To understand for a few days what makes men and women go through the ordeal of trying for public office.

Wouldn't we like to see the newspaper names come to life, and walk about the hotel lobbies? To realize they have families, hopes and dreams, and are people, just as we are?

We know one woman whose husband pulled a bunch of strings to get them box seats at their own party convention — then he backed out.

"I'd rather go fishin'," he explained.

But she's a trooper. She's off to Chicago carrying her softest shoes and her coolest clothes. Sure she'll be uncomfortable, but it's an experience she'll never forget. It will be fun to get home, of course, but for a little while at least she will have felt America's pulse beat. And while she won't be making history herself, she'll feel the dynamic excitement of history being made!

Many of these boys who have been called back in had just got started in civilian life and had a small equity in their homes.

When they were called back in, they had to sell those homes and use that equity to pay up their bills and take care of their families. Had we failed to get this amendment in, a great injustice would have been done these boys who have been subjected to double service.

Public Housing

You will remember that the House of Representatives reduced the number of public housing units authorized in the original committee bill from 50,000 to 5,000. This was contained in an appropriation bill. When this bill reached the Senate, the number of public housing units was increased to 45,000. Since there was disagreement a conference committee went into the matter and finally agreed on 35,000 units.

When this bill came back to the House for approval, a motion was made to send it back to the committee for further reduction in the housing units. However, as I have pointed out in previous letters, the coalition that was able to reduce the original number from 50,000 to 5,000 failed to coalesce and the result was that the bloc of Southern Democrats were left holding the bag, and the House approved the 35,000 units.

It was just another case of what happened on the controls bill. The House had done away with many of the controls on goods not in short supply. However, when the matter got to the conference committee, most of these controls were put back on for the ten months period, and the matter came back to the House and was accepted by the House simply because of changed votes.

Car Crashes Get Early Start for Fourth of July

Fourth of July accidents got off to an early start this year. A few minutes after midnight Thursday night a traffic mishap on highway 60 about ten miles north of Canyon injured three people. The two-car collision resulted in cuts, bruises and fractures to the passengers of the cars but no one was killed outright. The condition of one of the women involved in the crash was described by hospital attendants as "poor."

Nervous tension existed among officials in the traffic department all over the nation as the Fourth of July drew near. The heavy load of holiday traffic always adds sharply to the number of accidents on the highways. City, county and state officials were patrolling the streets and highways with extra vigilance in an attempt to hold the number of accidents down to a minimum.

Although the traffic was not as heavy as many people expected it to be, a number of tickets were written for speeding and reckless driving. The statistics for the Panhandle area showed a total of one person dead and 19 others injured after the Fourth of July.

PLATFORMS and CANDIDATES

FROM ALL STATES IN THE UNION, MEN AFFILIATED WITH OUR TWO MAJOR POLITICAL PARTIES WILL BE HEADING SHORTLY FOR CHICAGO FOR THE NOMINATING CONVENTIONS THAT ARE PART OF OUR ELECTORAL PROCESS. ALL AMERICA LOVES A BIG SHOW — AND THESE WILL BE BIG SHOWS.

BUT MORE IMPORTANT, OUT OF THE SHOUTING AND THE TUMULT, THERE WILL EMERGE THE CANDIDATES AND THE PLATFORMS ON WHICH THEY WILL GO BEFORE THE PEOPLE. THE ISSUES WILL BE JOINED. EVERY CITIZEN WILL HAVE FULL OPPORTUNITY TO FORM HIS OWN CONVICTIONS — AND A SOLEMN RESPONSIBILITY TO VOTE THOSE CONVICTIONS ON ELECTION DAY.

John White Made Correct Estimate 151 Cotton Crop

JOHN C. WHITE

A recent admission by the U. S. Department of Agriculture that its 1951 cotton crop estimate was "too optimistic" has verified a claim by Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

White, who is now seeking his second term in office, said the U.S.D.A.'s over-estimate by 2 million bales last year resulted in a serious break in cotton prices. His own correct estimate of the Texas crop as early as last August, and his advice to farmers to hold their cotton saved them millions of dollars, he said.

The commissioner cited his cotton report, which was upheld last week by the U.S.D.A. annual bulletin, as one of the services rendered by his department during his first term in office. He is actively campaigning this year to repeat his 1950 victory at the polls when he defeated J. E. McDonald, veteran politician who had held the post of Agriculture Commissioner for 20 years.

The son of a Clay County tenant farmer, White was formerly head of the Division of Agriculture at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls. He and his wife and three sons have now established their home in Austin.

"We solved our hauling problems with Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks"

"Our business calls for trucks that can haul big loads day in and day out—and we like our trucks to last, too! That's why we prefer Dodge trucks that are 'Job-Rated' to fit our particular hauling job."

"We recently put in service two Dodge 'Job-Rated' 1½-ton models . . . and they sure haul big loads the way we want them to! For instance, the 170-inch wheelbase models allow for a 14-foot body, which is ideal for our business. And Dodge easy-handling advantages enable us to maneuver these trucks in the same space as some other trucks with 12-foot bodies."

Strong Appeal Made To Re-elect Speaker Of House 2nd Term

By Byron C. Utecht

Austin: The next session of the Texas Legislature promises to be the most important in many years, with members expecting day and night work over many serious problems, among them financing the state government for the next two years, and already state government costs have reached nearly $600,000,000 annually.

The legislature will consider laws affecting highways, colleges, courts, state hospitals, public schools, taxation, soil and water conservation, presidential primary, automobile responsibility and many other subjects. It is estimated that 2,000 bills and resolutions will be introduced.

Acts of the legislature affect the lives and business of the state's entire population, and there is no more important office than that of a legislator.

Very naturally a man highly qualified in experience and ability, one who inspires confidence and cooperation, is required for House speaker, who has 43 standing committees to appoint, who must work with all groups and who must keep legislative processes going with a minimum of confusion and a maximum of harmony.

Reuben E. Senterfitt of San Saba has been prevailed upon to serve a second term as speaker. He was so successful as speaker of the Fifty-second legislature that it was able to adjourn very soon after the end of 120-day regular period. In the past, sessions lasted many days longer.

All during the last session, there was a spirit of cooperation and harmony. Speaker Senterfitt accomplished this record without undue haste or pressuring committees, but by encouraging close efficient workmanship.

Senterfitt in serving a second term would set no precedent, by any means. M. D. K. Taylor of Jefferson served three terms as speaker, the Eighth, Tenth and Thirteenth Legislatures. John H. Cochran of Dallas served two terms as speaker, the Sixteenth and Twenty-third Legislatures. Coke R. Stevenson was speaker two terms, the Forty-third and Forty-fourth Sessions. Many Texas state officials are re-elected term after term, and the governor nearly always is elected for two terms.

Senterfitt comes from a pioneer Texas family. He is a veteran of the second world war. He made a flight of 8,000 miles from Dutch East Indies in the far Pacific to take his oath as a House member.

Members have confidence in him because he gets work done quietly, competently, and without bickering. The speaker is paid $10 a day during a session only, the same as for all other members of the Legislature.

The fiercest blow that can be struck by an animal is that of a whale's tail.

JAP PAY

According to Japanese Government statistics, Japanese industrial workers, at the end of 1951, received an average monthly wage of 17,967 yen (about $50.) This was an increase on the average wages for the twelve months previous when the average was about $36.

Rev. Dr. Louis W. Pitt, Episcopalian rector, urging an interest in world affairs: "There are but two ways to deal with life. One is to pretend that it is safe and the other is to take life as it is."
